

Photograph 1 – “Pushing oneself harder for the peak”

The villagers' returns home after their daily work in the markets. The land near the river bank is very fertile. They cultivate their vegetables and sell them in the markets in nearby town. We can see two villagers in the photograph returning home after their work in the market.

Location- Tezpur, Assam

Photograph 2- “Guarding”

This photograph is of Mr. Durgeshswor Borgohain who owns a buffalo shed in a Chapori. Half of the Chapori gets submerged during monsoon flood which leads to death of the cattle in multiple numbers every year. Flood kills the cattle along with the vegetation of the Chapori which the cattle feeds on. This causes death due to hunger.

Location- Tezpur, Assam

Photograph 3 - “River Kingdom”

This photograph is of little kids from the outskirt villages of Tezpur city. Most of the immigrants resides in the outskirt villages on the Brahmaputra river bank. During evening the village kids came to play, fish and have their evening bath.

Photograph 4 - “Infinite”

This photograph is of 10 year old Nikita Rajbongshi, belongs to a fisherman family who resides at the bank of river Brahmaputra in Tezpur, Assam. She studies in Kolibari School in class 5. In this photograph she stares at the vast river view from her home where the horizon over the river goes invisible.

Photograph 5 – “Dusk choirs”

This photograph is of cattle herders returning with their herd during sunset in the bank of river Brahmaputra. The vast stretch of sand makes a spectacular sunset creating a surreal ambience.